

Compassion Sunday Update

Amy Myers

On April 30, we joined churches across the country for Compassion Sunday by setting apart the day to change the future for children living in poverty around the world. Thank you so much for the opportunity to share with you about Compassion International! It was a pleasure to help several of you step into child sponsorship. Nine children were sponsored through First Baptist Church of Shallotte this year, bringing our two-year total to 16! Not to mention the countless others of you who shared amazing stories of the children that you already sponsor through Compassion and other organizations. Your faithfulness to care for "the least of these" and share the love of Jesus around the world is so evident! If you would like to learn more about Compassion, or decide you would like to sponsor a child, always feel free to email me at amyers@us.ci.org or visit compassion.com. Thank you again for the opportunity to share with you and to serve alongside such an awesome church!

If You Knew What the Future Held, How Would That Change

Sometimes even Thor needs to be reminded of what matters most.

In late 2022, actor Chris Hemsworth discovered that he is 8 to 10 times more likely than the average person to develop Alzheimer's disease. Therefore, Hemsworth, best known for his role as Thor in the Marvel universe, announced he had reevaluated his priorities.

Hemsworth learned of his predisposition toward the disease during the Disney+ series, "Limitless." The show focused on mortality and death, and in the final episode he met with longevity physician Dr. Peter Attia and submitted to a series of genetic tests.

The tests showed that Hemsworth had two copies of the gene APOE4, from both his mother and father. Scientists don't know much about APOE4, but they do know it has the strongest correlation to the development of Alzheimer's. And having two copies of the gene increases Hemsworth's chances exponentially.

The National Institute of Health recorded in a 2021 study that 1 in 4 people carry a single copy of the gene, but less than 3% of the population have both. In addition, Alzheimer's disease runs in his family. His grandfather suffered from it. The odds are not in his favor.

A life-changing impact

Hemsworth has not been shy about the impact of this news. In the show he shared, "The idea that I won't be able to remember the life I experienced, or my wife, my kids, is probably my biggest fear."

"Doing an episode on death and facing your own mortality made me go, 'Oh God, I'm not ready to go yet," he said. "I want to sit and be in this space with a greater sense of stillness and gratitude."

"And then you start talking about kids and family, [and] they're getting older, they're growing up, and I keep slapping another movie on top of another movie. Before you know it, they're 18, and they've moved out of house, and I missed the window."

So, he said, he has decided to make some critical changes. "It really triggered something in me to want to take some time off. Now when I finish this tour this week, I'm going home, and I'm going to have a good chunk of time off and just simplify. Be with the kids, be with my wife."

Since his announcement, the native Australian is still making movies, but he has slowed down his pace, as he said, to focus on what matters most.

A reality check

Rarely are we ever privy to what comes next. Rarely do we have a chance to get a glimpse into the future, to consider our roles as husbands and fathers, as men and disciples, and to get a chance to make a course correction when we

But God knows what we do not know. And that's why the Bible is clear on the brevity of life and significance of our priorities. That is to say, you and I may not have the kind of scientific information that Hemsworth has, but we do have a clear view of the horizon, an unhindered picture of what matters most. We have the Bible.

Your Decisions Today?

It's about our choices and decisions.

Hemsworth's reality check resulted in a shift in his priorities, which, in turn produced decisions that will shape his future. For all of us, here are a few takeaways:

Your choices are your life. Literally.

Hemsworth decided to change his priorities, plain and simple. By doing so, he acknowledged the significance of the choices we make. Life itself is the result of our choices. With the information we have, with prayer and time in God's word, are we making the best decisions we can?

The Bible teaches that our decisions should be grounded in His Word, display an application of biblical wisdom, align with His will, and should show faith in Him (Prov. 3:5-6, James 1:5, Phil. 4:6-7, 1 John 5:14).

That happens when you know the Bible and stay humble in prayer. So when you make your choices as a man who follows Christ, remember that your choices first and foremost should reflect a solid faith in Him.

Life is brief. Use it wisely.

We tend to operate as if we have plenty of time, or as if we control the future. But the Bible candidly portrays the brevity of life. For instance, the book of James provides perspective on our decisions and the brevity of life.

"Come now, you who say, 'Today or tomorrow we will travel to such and such a city and spend a year there and do business and make a profit.' Yet you do not know what tomorrow will bring-what your life will be! For you are like vapor that appears for a little while, then vanishes. Instead, you should say, 'If the Lord wills, we will live and do this or that.' But as it is, you boast in your arrogance. All such boasting is evil" (James 4:13-16).

James is echoing other passages in the Bible that warn against assuming you control the next day. Planning is good but do it with humility. The Bible teaches that today is your priority and you are a steward of this day that God has given you (Psalm 39:4, 78:39, 90:12).

Love people. They matter

Perhaps the most compelling-and maybe the saddest--thing that Hemsworth realized was that one day he would not remember his kids or his wife. But that realization resulted in the determination to create memories for them. Suddenly and clearly, it was not just about him. It was about them.

What memories are you making for the people in your life? When they look back on your leadership and your love as a man, a spouse, or a dad, what will they remember?

And most important of all, will your family remember that you walked with Christ (Deut. 6:4-

It's what you do next that matters.

Maybe you've had your own reality check. Maybe you realized that you need to adjust your priorities, to make decisions more in line with what God wants in your life. Maybe you haven't been the man, husband, friend, or father you want to be. Maybe your career needs a break, you need a breather, or you just need to take a step of faith and make a change.

Maybe. But wherever you find yourself in life, the good news is always the same. In Christ, there is always hope. And grace. And forgiveness.

As a Christian, you live in the light of eternity. God has a plan for you, a part to play, in His great kingdom. Make decisions that reflect that truth—you live for Christ, not for yourself (2 Cor. 5:9).

But above all, make sure you are "ready to go." If you do not know Christ as your Savior, trust Him today. Start living the life He designed for you. Before it's too late.

Remember, it's what you do next that matters.
